

THE EXPLORERS OF HITLER SS- AHNENERBE

Historical essay

Javier Martínez-Pinna

Himmler, Schafer, Rahn, Wirth, Kiss: The exciting adventure of the archaeological expeditions of the Nazis treasure hunters.

Synopsis

With The explorers of Hitler, Javier Martínez-Pinna introduces the reader again to the exciting adventure of finding some of the longed hidden treasures of our past, this time tracking the Nazi researchers who toured the world for years in the service of the Third Reich.

In his new book, narrated in an agile and pleasant way, the reader learns about the story of the expeditions sponsored by the Ahnenerbe, an organization within the fearsome SS, to find the lost tracks of the Aryan race, in the distant and inaccessible peaks of Tibet, or the enigmatic Peruvian city of Tiahunaco. Through its pages the readers follow the trace of this strange group of adventurers who are put to the service of a regime that commissioned them the search of the most powerful objects of worship pertaining to all religions.

This is its history.

Biography

Javier Martínez-Pinna, the author of this essay, is a historian specialised in Prehistory, Ancient History and Archaeology.

He has participated in numerous archaeological campaigns.

A regular contributor to media as the magazine Vive la Historia and Clio, he has specialised in the study of some of the greater conflicts in History, such as the Punic Wars.

He has also published works as a Brief History of the Punic Wars, Hidden Treasures, Operation Trumpets of Jericho, and The Name of God.

His blog is: <http://historiaeclectica.blogspot.com.es/>

Collection.....Historia Incógnita
Author.....Javier Martínez-Pinna
Size.....17 x 22,5 cm
Pages.....256
Format.....Paperback with flaps
Edition1st edition
Release date.....November 2017
Standard ISBN.....9788499679044
USA ISBN POD.....9788499679051
ISBN ebook.....9788499679068

Sales pitch

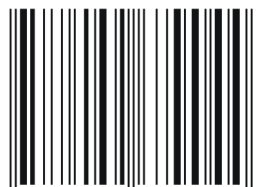

- Javier Martínez-Pinna, the author of this essay, is a historian specialised in Prehistory, Ancient History and Archaeology. He has participated in numerous archaeological campaigns. A regular contributor to media as the magazine Vive la Historia and Clio, he has specialised in the study of some of the greater conflicts in History, such as the Punic Wars. He has also published works as a Brief History of the Punic Wars, Hidden Treasures, Operation Trumpets of Jericho, and The Name of God.

- This essay is about journeys and missions that the Nazis carried out following Hitler's commands in order to refute the theories of the Reich on Aryan purity as well as seek the Holy Grail.

- Javier Martínez-Pinna moves away from the usual vision in this type of essays; esoteric, mysterious, enigmatic. He instead analyses with historical rigour, contrasting data of the different hypothesis that have been made up to the current moment.

- The search for the hidden treasures by investigators at the service of the Third Reich is a subject that has been brought up today thanks to cinema. Martínez-Pinna contextualizes all the causes which led them to these explorations, supporting his text with discipline in all the historical assumptions which are handled on this subject.

- Thanks to the excellent documentation provided by Martínez-Pinna - more than 50 illustrations, maps, photographs and portraits of some characters - the reader will live the adventure of the story accompanying these nazis in their expeditions, making this essay a travel guide from Tibet to Antarctica through Spain, Egypt and South America.

Contact: ventas@nowtilus.com
Tel. (0034) 912 426 595
www.facebook.com/ediciones.nowtilus <http://edicionesnowtilus.blogspot.com/>
www.twitter.com/nowtilus
www.nowtilus.com/boletin

spanish@bookmasters.com

Related books

9788497632799

9788499672632

9788499676807

