

POLITICS IN 100 QUESTIONS

Popular knowledge

Santiago Armesilla

The keys and concepts for understanding politics. Learn the essentials of “political science”, and “political reason,” social organization, power, politics in history, the elements that make define political societies, different types of societies, and political communities, ideologies, and hot issues of politics.

Is democracy voting? Is populism the solution, or another problem? Do we know what we're talking about when we talk about nationalism? Do environmentalism, or feminism have the capacity, on their own, to change society? How does political power come about? How do Empires appear and what are they? Is politics equivalent to Civilization? How many political powers are there: three, nine, or eighteen? Is injustice preferable to disorder? Is the left-right axis still of use? Are ideologies that are both left, and right possible? Does power corrupt?

Synopsis

The keys and concepts for understanding politics. Learn the essentials of “political science”, and “political reason,” social organization, power, politics in history, the elements that make define political societies, different types of societies, and political communities, ideologies, and hot issues of politics.

Biography

Santiago Javier Armesilla Conde holds a PhD in Political and Social Economics in the Framework of Globalization from the Complutense University of Madrid, Master in Political Science and Administration. He works as a qualitative researcher at AENA, is coordinator and researcher of the Research Group of Contemporary Mobility of NETWORKS (Spanish Network of Development Studies), and honorary collaborator of the Department of Applied Economics V of the Faculty of Political Science and Sociology of the UCM. He has published Brief History of the Economy and Economy in 100 Questions.

Collection.....100 Preguntas Esenciales
AuthorSantiago Armesilla
Size.....14 x 21 cm
Pages.....352
Format.....Paperback with flaps
Edition1st edition
Release date.....March 2020
Standard ISBN.....9788413051079
ISBN POD.....9788413051086
ISBN ebook.....9788413051093

Sales pitch

- “Politics in 100 Questions” is a divulgative work on politics, and includes its main areas of knowledge: political reason, political life, social organization, power, politics in history, political societies, ideologies, and current policy issues. A work that provides a complete, and rigorous view of this discipline, combining disclosure, and essay.
- The work extends itself to the most current knowledge of politics: in its last heading it addresses current hot topics of politics such as: globalization, political correctness, populism, feminism or environmentalism.
- The work refutes some of the most widespread prejudices, and topics about politics, and explains for all kinds of audiences (political scientists, students and interested persons) what politics consists of.
- Santiago Javier Armesilla Conde holds a PhD in Political and Social Economics in the Framework of Globalization from the Complutense University of Madrid, Master in Political Science and Administration. He works as a qualitative researcher at AENA, is coordinator and researcher of the Research Group of Contemporary Mobility of NETWORKS (Spanish Network of Development Studies), and honorary collaborator of the Department of Applied Economics V of the Faculty of Political Science and Sociology of the UCM. He has published Brief History of the Economy and Economy in 100 Questions.

Related books

