

BRIEF HISTORY OF WARS IN AFRICA

BREVE HISTORIA
www.BreveHistoria.com

Historical essay

Óscar Corcoba Fernández

Enter a world of war, battles, and bloody genocides, rise, and fall of empires: Idi Amin, Nasser, Muammar the Gaddafi, Erwin Rommel, Samuel Doe, Ernesto Che Guevara. The different types of warfare, the process of decolonisation, and the influence of Africa in the Cold War. A rigorous vision of the wars that ravage the African continent.

Synopsis

Idi Amin, The butcher of Uganda, Nasser, Muammar Gaddafi, Erwin Rommel, Samuel Doe, President of Liberia, including Ernesto Che Guevara... Proper names that have shaped recent history of the African continent through war and genocide. Brief History of Wars in Africa takes us into the different military conflicts facing the African continent through the journey of the most critical battles, we will analyse the different moments, and conflicts in which not only recent history of Africa has been shaped, but also its influence worldwide today as it has been tremendous.

Brief History of Wars in Africa is a synthesis of the different wars that have ravaged the continent in the 20th century, and the influence that many of them have had on the development of world history, such as those that have occurred during the two World Wars in Africa. Learn about the different types of warfare, the process of decolonisation, or Africa's influence in the Cold War through historical documentation, and military sources of the 20th century.

Biography

Óscar Corcoba Fernández holds a Master's degree by the University of Alicante, a specialist in Military History by UNED, and The Institute of General Gutiérrez Mellado. He has been awarded in 2016 with the National Defense Award for his research work, he has made presentations at several congresses on his field of specialisation; the Contemporary Military History.

Sales pitch

- Brief history of Wars in Africa is a rigorous essay that explains the war conflicts that took place on the African continent, from the Boer War at the end of the 19th century, to the last civil wars, and their influence on the rest of the continent at the end 20th century. This work explains the different types of warfare, the process of decolonisation, or the influence of Africa in the Cold War.

- It explains the conflicts that ravage the African continent from the point of view of the countries concerned, as opposed to the existing literature which has a purely Europeanist view.

- This title presents an overview of the African continent in the 20th century, and its little-known role as a theatre for military operations of the I and II World War.

- Completely updated, and revised, it is based on specific data from the author's research, and provides graphs, explanatory tables, and conflict maps that allow the reader to contextualise each conflict in their country and its historical moment.

- Oscar Corcoba Fernández holds a degree in History by the University of Alicante, a specialist in Military History by UNED, and The Institute of General Gutiérrez Mellado. He has been awarded in 2016 with the National Defence Award for his research work, he has made presentations at several congresses on his field of specialisation, Contemporary Military History.

Collection.....Breve Historia
Author.....Óscar Corcoba Fernández
Size.....13 x 19 cm
Pages.....320
Format.....Paperback with flaps
Edition1st edition
Release date.....November 2019
Standard ISBN.....9788413050898
USA ISBN POD.....9788413050904
ISBN ebook.....9788413050911

Contact: ventas@nowtilus.com
Tel. (0034) 912 426 595
www.facebook.com/ediciones.nowtilus <http://edicionesnowtilus.blogspot.com/>
www.twitter.com/nowtilus

Related books

